

The Herald and News

F. H. CULLEN, EDITOR

The strike in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania has been settled, and the whole country feels relieved. The president has appointed a commission, consisting of six persons, to adjust all differences, and both parties have agreed to abide by the decisions of this commission.

It appears very much now as if the whole trouble all along has been the refusal of the operators to recognize the mine workers' union, and the insistence of the union upon recognition. As the matter now stands, President Mitchell, of the union, has simply agreed that the operators will return to their work, leaving their differences to be settled by the commission.

President Roosevelt deserves the congratulations of the whole country for the part he has taken in the matter, and the results which have been brought about through him. Prior to his efforts, and even after the first several conferences, the chasm between the operators and the operatives seemed to grow wider day by day. Then came the proposition of the operators, followed by a wide-spread and general demand, made through chosen representatives of the American people, for some concessions from the operators. The concessions have been made, and the strike, which has lost the country some $150,000,000, is off.

The State Fair is now less than two weeks off. The Fair is always the occasion of something of an annual reunion of the people of South Carolina. From all sections of the State they come, and principally to see and meet friends from elsewhere. The good crops and the fair prices this year are going to bring the largest gathering to the city of Columbia during Fair week ever known in the history of the association. It is well that it is so, and we hope every one in South Carolina who can possibly do so will attend.

Especially would we like to see a large attendance of the people of Newberry County. It will be both pleasant and profitable to spend one or two days in Columbia at that time.

Ex-President Cleveland speaks truth when he says the only hope of the Democratic party lies in a constant and stalwart fight for tariff reform. Make this the main issue, secure harmony in the ranks, and victory will come. Otherwise the Democratic party might as well not nominate a ticket.

ST. LUKE'S COMMUNITY.

All the News From a Live Community Interestingly Told.

As I see but few articles in your columns from St. Luke's, I will endeavor to write you a very short one, and promise if I say little I will like-wise occupy little space. "Briefness is the soul of wit (?)".

The trustees of St. Luke's school have secured two excellent teachers. Mr. Mike Monts and Miss Bessie Wheeler, for the next session. Mr. Monts acting as principal and Miss Bessie, assistant. We feel that parents may rest at ease with their children under the care of these instructors; for their influence can be but good.

Mr. W. F. Bedenbaugh, who graduated at Newberry last session, began teaching at Mt. Pilgrim Monday. He is an inexperienced teacher, or very nearly so; but is a young man with ideas. The tender lads under his care will be handled with caution, for "as the twig is bent so the tree will grow."

St. Luke's loses one of her daughters for a short while—one interested, too, in education. Miss Essie Moore left a few days ago to teach near Kinard's. We cannot now hear her sweet, melodious music in our Sunday School, but it looks as if the Creator has ordained that no place in a good cause must be vacant. So we can still hear the sound of the organ blending with happy voices, singing the praises of the great Jehovah.

We miss others, who are now at school elsewhere, in search of knowledge. But we will not dwell upon "losing" for we might become gloomy and despondent. But, however, in such times we remember the old adage: "There's a sweet for every bitter," and look for their return. Those of whom we speak are: Miss Carrie Hunter, at Winthrop; Messrs. Robert Hunter, at Clemson; William Pellers and Willie Pugh, at Newberry, and J. I. Bedenbourg at the University of Georgia, Medical College.

Though it is a "school" age, we will not have all school, school, school. We will speak just a little of a more sacred mission—the church.

The holy sacrament was administered Sunday to a large congregation—or to a part of them. Rev. C. P. Booser was with the pastor, Rev. H. J. Mathias. Rev. Booser, after the communion, made a long and excellent talk to the congregation, (and I might say the pastor, too), who were eager to hear his words. We judge that Rev. Booser's object was "peace making," for he has not forgotten that "a house divided against itself cannot stand." We appreciate Rev. Booser's intervention, for his mission was a noble one—reconciliation. Though an arbitrator is not likely to succeed when the "battleground" is heard from the "file and rank," "their watch word is in terms of some, "close communion." Though led by "The Leader," their force is not overwhelming, for one may see a great number in battle array with their flag unfurled on which is, in large black letters, "Contra Close Communion." The worst, we fear, has not yet come, for there are many who cannot stand the cannon's roar and will desert and find a resting place far from "the haunts of men." We are not moralizers, I suppose, and will stop, lest we be not brief.

Our best wishes are for the Editor, and we hope he will advocate some plan in the legislature that will make "Peace Between man and beast," at least.

Swamp Fox Chill and Fever Cure.

There's a remedy that, if we were sick with Malaria, Chills, Ague or Fever, we would make our life on it. It didn't cure us, we'd feel pretty blue. We have seen one bottle of it cure a whole family. We have seen it cure the worst kinds of cases, in which other "chill cures" (so called) had failed utterly. It may not cure you, but if it does not, we will refund your money without a word. Price, 50c.

We make it and know that it is perfectly safe for anybody to take.
